

Privacy Policy

Last Modified: August 10, 2018
Theplayersbook3@gmail.com

Privacy Policy

All components within this site as well as “The Let’s Talk Bully Talk! For Kids by Kids” project is coordinated to work within the School system from first to fourth grade as a curriculum base assignment. The project was created to aid in the awareness on the topic of bullying to today’s youth. Partnering with many of the PA school districts we respect and value your privacy. We have formulated this content to allow all users whom visit this web site, know how we maintain, manage, use, and collect our consumers information. The content of this Privacy Policy is designated for the users of this web site where the Privacy Policy is posted to establish information we collect through phone contact, Via web site, and email.

Personal Data We Collect: All personal data that we collect from our consumers information that we obtain is for identity purposes. Information includes, name, address, phone number, email, social media avenues, birth date, age, gender, child’s grade level, and any other information which you have provided of this nature.

User Data Information: All users information is established to learn how you navigate through the web site at hand. We process all information with the ideal of being able to allow your user experience to be a good one. Tracking navigation of the user, recording usage of time spent on the site, helps us to provide all the necessary up-dates and changes needed for an excellent user experience. Our sole purpose is to maintain and administer a good business relationship and web site for our consumers.

Security: The site in which you are currently visiting takes full responsibility of shielding all personal data in which you have voluntarily provided. As efficient as we strive to be, no security operation holds totally inaccessible, so we can not one hundred percent guarantee the security system in which is applied unless the proper consent has been given to us through you.

nor can we guarantee all personal information can not be obstructed during the usage over the internet. We do not share any personal information in which has dispersed

Changing / deleting Information: If for any reason you would like us to change or delete your personal information in which you have provided to us, we will gladly make an attempt to do so. Please email us at any time, if we have no legal. Please be aware that there may be back up copies of all pertinent data in existence.

Contact us if you have any questions or concerns @ theplayersbook3@gmail.com. Thank you